

SEPARATION ISSUES

So you have decided to separate. Whether you were married, in a civil partnership or cohabiting, you will quickly be faced with the practicalities of separation. On occasion, it can be difficult to establish whether or not a couple has, in fact, separated. We can explain the difficulties involved.

Our family lawyers can assist you in the separation process. Many couples prefer to negotiate an Agreement.

Separation Agreement

The Agreement can deal with any matter of importance to you. Our Family Law Team can provide you with professional advice and act on your behalf, to ensure your interests are properly protected.

What Next?

What happens following separation is, of course, up to you and your spouse or partner. We will present you with your options and explain each one fully.